

LECTURER: EDUCATION POLICY, LEADERSHIP AND CHANGE
THE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION (SOE)
FACULTY OF HUMANITIES

The School of Education at the University of Cape Town invites applications for the post of Lecturer in Education Policy, Leadership and Change.

The mission of the School of Education (SoE) is to undertake scholarly work that protects the principle of quality education as a public good. The mission statement is operationalised within integrated multi-level academic programmes that serve the schooling sector and all dimensions of the post-schooling sector including the non-formal education space and is conceptualised and theorised across a number of different academic streams.

The advertised post lies within the education policy stream that is embedded within a particular conceptual and theoretical framework with bodies of knowledge that include and engage with the globalisation of education, education policy change, education leadership and management debates, history and sociology of education, key policy and intellectual challenges tied to the preparation of teachers, and theorisations and engagement with education development concerns across all spheres of the South African education sector.

The successful candidate will be required to teach, supervise, and conduct research within the above bodies of knowledge, anchored in macro and micro-explorations of education. The successful candidate will also need to show interest in working on educational research projects linked to provincial, national, and international education initiatives, with particular attention to working with African and designated international partners over the next five years.
